

Living with Alexander disease and being treated with Zinvastro™ (zilganersen)?

About the study:

We are inviting people living with Alexander disease and their caregivers to participate in an observational study. The purpose of this study is to better understand the real-world outcomes associated with treatment with zilganersen on disease symptoms, progression, and quality of life in people living with Alexander disease and to better understand the course of the disease from earliest symptom onset.

- This study is completely voluntary: It's your choice and it won't affect your care or your access to treatments
- Done from home: complete surveys at 4 timepoints over 2 years, no extra clinic visits.
- Done with Citizen Health: a free, patient-controlled platform that gathers your medical records into one place and keeps your data secure.
- Compensation is provided for taking part and completing surveys

You may be eligible if you or someone you care for are:

- ✓ Living with Alexander disease and starting or already receiving treatment with zilganersen
- ✓ Willing and able to complete up to 4 study survey timepoints over 2 years, independently or with caregiver assistance
